

MeierMovies TV/Web/Streaming Shows

This smaller, more informal list catalogues TV, internet and streaming series and mini-series, and also theatrically released serials from the pre-television era. The rating scale is similar to my scale for movies but lacks quarter-stars (0-5 stars with half-star increments). Ratings try to take into account the quality over the entire run but also make mild allowances for the fact that most series do not maintain high quality throughout their run, especially if the series lasts many years. Long-running, high-quality series are given slightly more credit than short-run (one or two seasons) series. In some instances, separate star ratings are given for separate seasons if the series sees a large shift in quality or tone. And in some instances, the list includes a rating for just one or two seasons of a multi-season run if those are the only seasons I have seen.

The TV anthology series Playhouse 90 and Studio One are listed here under TV series, but their episodes also appear on my movie lists as TV movies.

For British visitors, please note that I am using the American descriptors: "Series" refers to the entire history of a show, and "season" refers to a single year.

For a guide to colors, see Key.
